THE NATION

After a two-year study by the Justice Department, Attorney General Ramsey Clark issued a set of sweeping new regulations forbidding all wiretapping and virtually all electronic eavesdropping except in cases involving the national security. The new regulations went beyond limitations placed on federal eavesdropping by President Johnson in 1955, particularly in banning devices that can pick up conversations within a closed room while the listener remains outside.

A congressional joint economic committee has warned that the nation may face "the same dreary cycle of events" this year as it did last year, when the administration's $10-billion underestimate of the cost of the war in Vietnam caused "havoc." SCENE OF CONFLICT

Joseph Mobutu, Congolese president, declared a state of emergency Wednesday, claiming that foreign mercenaries had landed in two planes at Kisangani and occupied the airfield. Earlier a special report by Kinshasa Radio, preceding the Mobutu broadcast, announced a parachutist attack on Bukavu and Kisangani.

Evacuate Americans From Battle Areas

By LEWIS GULICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department announced yesterday the evacuation of most Americans from the rebel-seized Congo city of Bukavu and proclaimed U.S. support for the Cong central government threatened by a rebellion reportedly led by foreign mercenaries.

The U.S. move was reminiscent of similar actions during the early 1960s when the newly independent nation in Africa's heartland was torn by secessions. Washington then backed U.N. intervention to hold the big country together, but it rates the crisis as far less grave this time.

State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey reported that 46 of the 65 American citizens in the Bukavu area, including 21 children, had been evacuated by road and water transport into neighboring Rwanda.

Bukavu is on the Congo's eastern border, nearly 1,000 miles from the capital, Kinshasa, formerly named Leopoldville.

Other Americans in the Bukavu area are proceeding to Rwanda in separate groups, McCloskey said. Most of them are missionaries and dependents of U.S. diplomats. Staying on at Bukavu is a small U.S. consular staff under Truston F. Crigler.

Invasion Charged

(c) N. Y. Times News Service UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — The representative of the Congo charged in the Security Council yesterday that foreign mercenaries recruited in Western Europe were being used in an attempt to keep the Congolese President, Joseph D. Mobutu, from carrying out a progressive reform program.

The council had been summoned by Endalkachew Makonnen of Ethiopia, president of the council for July, at the urgent request of Theodore Idzumbur, permanent representative of the Congo, the former Belgian Congo.

Yesterday, President Mobutu wrote to the president of the council saying that his country had been invaded by foreign mercenaries striking at Kisangani and Bukavu. He did not, however, ask for a meeting then.

Idzumbur charged that the mercenaries were agents for members of a "club" of capitalist exploiters with a yearning for the high profits of colonialist exploitation.

The reference was to former premier Moise Tshombe, who was seized in Algeria after his plane landed there, and whom the Mobutu government is trying to extradite. He faces a death sentence in the Congo.

The only action Idzumbur asked was a call by the council to all countries to cooperate so that the Congolese people, so many of whom, he said, have given their lives since the Congo became independent in 1960, can begin to live in peace.

In October, the Congo brought similar charges before the council, asserting that the Portuguese territory of Angola was the rallying point for mercenaries who were interfering in affairs of the Congo. On that occasion, the council adopted a resolution calling upon Portugal to prevent her territory from being used as a base for intruders.

The harassment of which he complained last autumn was recently renewed, Idzumbur said. An important railroad bridge was blown up, he said, impeding the country's communications. Power stations vital to the production of mineral wealth were sabotaged and poles supporting electric lines to the mines were destroyed. He accused "an international Mafia."

Idzumbur said France was the only country in Western Europe taking active measures to prevent recruitment of mercenaries. He also expressed gratitude to Zambia, which he said had arrested some saboteurs.

Nikolai T. Fedorenko of the Soviet Union and Moussa Leo Keita of Mali joined in declaring that the Congo was suffering now because the United Nations had not punished Israel as an aggressor. Fedorenko said:

"Yesterday it was the Arabs who were victims, today it is the Congo."

William B. Buffum, speaking for the United States, said Washington "fully supports efforts of the central government to restore order in the Congo."

The council adjourned for consultations until 4 p.m. today.

U.S. Supporting Mobutu

(c) N.Y. Times News Service WASHINGTON — The United States pointedly supported yesterday the government of President Joseph D. Mobutu against the dissident military units in the eastern provinces of the Congo.

The State Department said: "The United States Government supports the government of the Democratic Republic of the Congo, as it has consistently done in the past, in that government's search for stability and peace."

Referring to the mercenary-led military units that have seized control in two cities in the eastern Congo, the State Department said the U.S. "strongly condemns the action of those who can only temporarily impede the forward progress of the Congo government under the leadership of President Mobutu."

The statement of support, read by a State Department spokesman at the daily press briefing, was made, according to officials, at the specific suggestion of Mobutu.

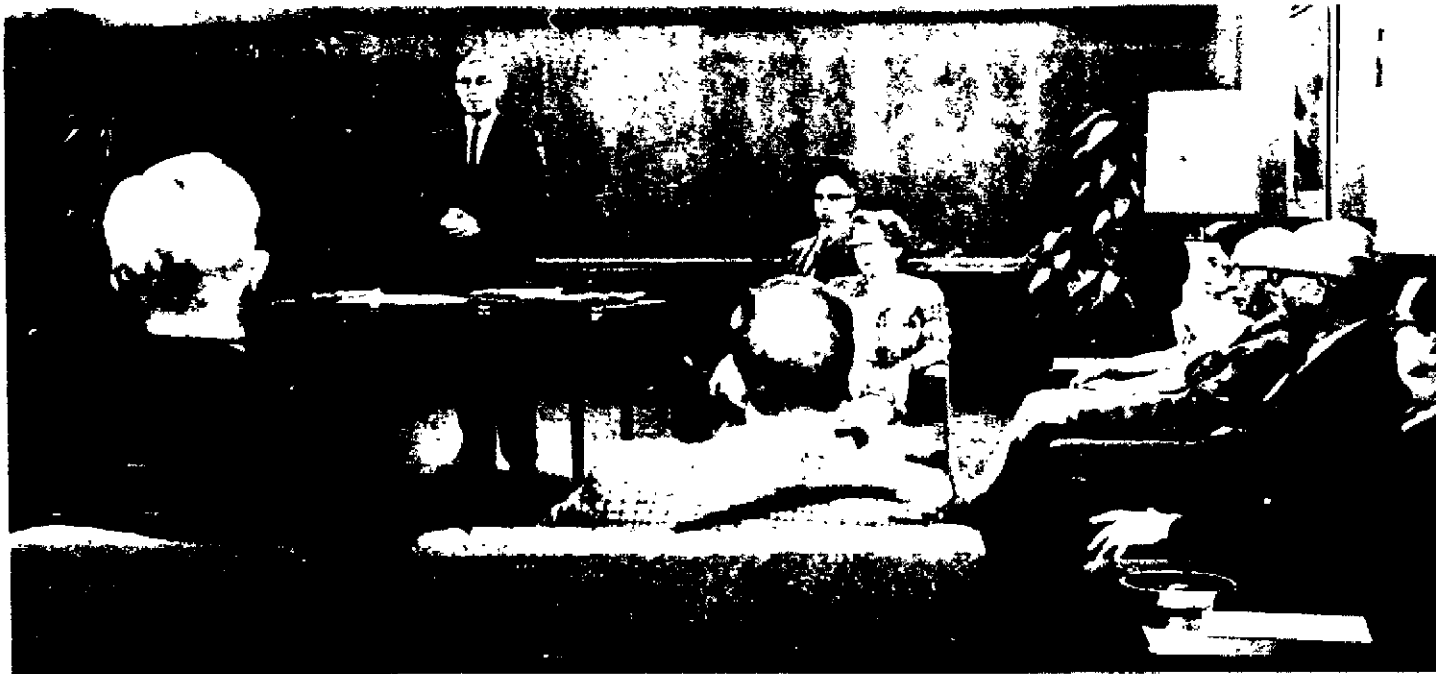

Mobutu was said to have suggested to American diplomats that it would be helpful if the United States made clear its support for the central government, as had France and Belgium.

Another effect of the State Department statement was to dissociate the United States from any involvement in the military uprising. This dissociation, however, was not so much for the benefit of Mobutu as for the African nations in general.

While Mobutu has charged that the Congo was being subjected to "foreign aggression" sponsored by the U.S.,

MAPPING OUT LOCAL AID IN PROJECT FIND

Donald E. Taft, director of the Warren and Forest counties' project FIND addresses the first meeting of that group's advisory council in the hospitality room of Northwest Savings and Loan.

Aid for the Elderly is Planned

Warren County's project FIND held the first organizational meeting of its advisory council last evening in the hospitality room of the Northwest Savings and Loan building.

Project FIND (Friendless, Isolated, Needy, Disabled) is sponsored by the Warren-Forest Office of Economic Opportunity; it is one of 12 such pilot projects being conducted in the nation for 9 months. The area council received word last week that the National Council on Aging had accepted their application, submitted by director Richard Brown and alloted them $60,513 for the program.

Project FIND will conduct surveys among the elderly and specifically the elderly poor, throughout Warren and Forest Counties to determine their condition and needs. During the survey, action will be taken wherever agencies exist which can alleviate any undesirable conditions uncovered.

Last night's meeting found 23 persons representing hospitals, welfare organizations, Golden Agers and interested parties gathered from around the county to hear the outline of the project from its director, Donald E. Taft. This group, with others added, will comprise the advisory council which will ultimately bring together and evaluate all the information gathered and will make final recommendations to the Economic Opportunity Council. In addition, Taft pointed out that the group would criticize and evaluate the actual procedures used in gathering the information.

Along with Taft, the project will employ a full time clerk and a combination nurse and social worker, Miss Dorothy Kottcamp of Warren. She will begin work July 17. Miss Kottcamp is a registered nurse and has had experience in social work and administration at John Hopkins in Maryland.

Also to be hired are 18 community aides and 12 area captains. The community aides will be persons 55 years of age or older who will be assigned a target area around the community in which they live. Their duties will consist of calling on the elderly at their homes and assisting them in filling out questionnaires. It is felt that elderly persons needing work will enjoy better understanding during the interviews. These people will be paid $1.50 per hour and given a maximum of 20 hours to work each week.

Area captains will act as liaisons between the head office and the community aides where two or more such aides are working in one target area. They will not only relay information gathered, but see that such people like the nurse-social worker are called in to determine what help can be given when conditions merit immediate need.

All involved will be given intensive training in survey procedures; it is expected that 9 community aides and 6 area captains will begin work this month. Ads for job applicants will appear beginning today. It is hoped that volunteers will be recruited to help with the work, which must be accomplished by March 31, 1968.

The target areas for the two counties were announced by Mr. Taft. A target area takes in all of the elderly residents living in and around the communities mentioned. In Warren County, the target areas will be Clarendon, Columbus, Russell, Enterprise, Sugar Grove, Sheffield, Youngsville, Tidoute and Warren. In Forest County, the areas will be the East Hickory, Tionesta, and West Hickory area, Marienville and Tionesta.

It is hoped that some of the programs established by this short-term project will be taken over by local communities. One example of this might be the planned development of community centers where programs not only for the elderly, but for all of the needy, can be integrated. Some of the services these centers could provide would include drugs at lower cost to the needy; articles for invalids; counseling, educational, cultural, and training programs, and day care of children by the elderly for mothers who must work. Also, the centers could provide game rooms and recreational facilities to help alleviate loneliness.

Warren and Forest counties were chosen as one of the 12 national sampling sites because they provided a good example of a small rural area. The other 11 projects are being conducted in New Jersey, New York City, Louisiana, Michigan, Florida, Oklahoma, Indiana, Missouri, California, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

Giant B52 Bombers Collide over Sea

(c) N.Y. Times News Service SAIGON — Two giant Strategic Air Command B-52's collided today and crashed into the South China Sea off the Mekong River Delta, a United States military command spokesman announced this morning.

Both of the six engine bombers were heading for targets in South Vietnam at the time of the collision 65 miles southeast of Saigon, the spokesman said. The huge stratofortresses normally carry a crew of six men. The spokesman said rescue operations are in progress but that there are no further details at this time.

The accident came during a period of stepped up B-52 activity from bases in both Thailand and Guam. On Wednesday, B-52's flew eight bombing missions against targets in South Vietnam, the largest number in a 24-hour period. This is the second accident involving B-52's en route to South Vietnam. The first occurred near the Philippine Islands last year when two bombers collided and crashed.

NEA Urges Earlier Start in Schools

(c) N.Y. Times News Service MINNEAPOLIS—The National Education Association approved a new policy yesterday that urged unrestricted federal financial aid to states and free public school for all children beginning at age four.

The association, meeting here on the fifth day of its week-long convention, also affirmed its "full support" of Florida teachers who are protesting allegedly inadequate salaries and funding of school programs. The Florida Education Association, an affiliate of the NEA has applied sanctions in the state, branding it as an undesirable place to work.

The resolution on federal aid endorsed the recommendations yesterday of the association's educational policy and legislative commissions. It calls for a major shift from the "categorical" method of funding, in which special programs are financed, to the "general" approach that gives states virtually unlimited discretion in the use of congressional appropriations.

The policy regarding early schooling is in line with a proposal made by the policy commission last year. The commission called the new generally accepted school starting age of six "obsolete."

In the resolution passed yesterday, the NEA requested "support at all levels of government to extend the opportunity for education at public expense downward to the age of four. In programs properly designed for children of these ages, schools can join with and enrich the efforts of home and family in educating children."

Most programs begun in recent years for pre-school age youngsters, such as Operation Headstart, had been aimed at benefiting culturally and economically deprived children. However the new NEA policy would have the opportunity spread to youngsters of all background and abilities.

On the basis of diplomatic reports received by the State Department, it appeared that the dissident military units had seized control of two cities in the eastern Congo—Kisangani, formerly Stanleyville, and Bukavu. The purpose of the military uprising, however, remained unclear to State Department officials, and for the moment the inclination was not to view it as serious as past attempts of secession by dissident groups in the eastern provinces of the Congo.

Struthers Will Build New Plant To Desalinate

WASHINGTON — Struthers Energy System Inc. of Warren will design a plant to incorporate a new process to separate fresh water from salt water.

Senator Hugh Scott yesterday confirmed that the firm received a $75,970 grant from the Office of Saline Water of the Department of the Interior for the study. Feasibility studies of the new process to desalinate water by distillation were made at Oak Ridge National Laboratory, Oak Ridge, Tennessee.

The Warren firm will design a plant using gas turbines as the prime source of energy to operate a distillation system. The plant design and a full report are expected to be complete by April 1968.

The firm designed a plant for desalination of water by freezing about seven years ago. That plant, now operating on an experimental basis at Wrightsville, N. C., is processing 15,000 gallons of salt water per day.

Nixon Leads Romney

By CARL C. CRAFT

MIRROR LAKE, N.H. (AP) — It would take heavy personal campaigning and "a lack of fumbles" for Michigan Gov. George W. Romney to capture New Hampshire's Republican presidential primary next year, former state GOP Chairman William Johnson said yesterday.

Johnson, of Hanover, was among the Dartmouth area residents at a private meeting with the potential Republican candidate.

Romney also was host at a reception for the state's newspaper publishers, editors and writers.

Johnson was among select guests at a private lunch with Romney. Others included former GOP National Chairman Leonard Hall, New Hampshire's National Committeeman Perkins Bass, former state National Committeeman William Treat and David Goldberg of Boston, head of Campaign Consultants, Inc. Goldberg, who now is working on Romney's behalf, engineered Henry Cabot Lodge's write-in victory in the 1964 GOP primary here.

No formal announcement has come from either Romney or former Vice President Richard M. Nixon but both are generally expected to be candidates for the nomination. Romney said, however, that if he decided to run for the nomination, he would enter the New Hampshire primary.

Hall, now heading the national Romney-for-President drive, said he believes Romney will be in the race.

Johnson, who supported New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in the 1964 GOP primary, said he was sure no party leader in the state would make a definite commitment at this time.

Investigate Gas Threat at Children's Home

Warren Borough Fire Department was called to the children's home on Conewango avenue yesterday to investigate a gas odor in the dormitory.

An investigation disclosed the Pennsylvania Gas Co. mixing station near the children's home had some gas seepage in the neighborhood and the odor was entering the dormitory through an open window, according to officials at the fire department. The gas company also had a man checking the area.

The fire department was called at 3:23 p.m. The emergency truck was on the scene for approximately 20 minutes. Another call at 12:20 p.m. yesterday sent firemen to Pennsylvania avenue E. to investigate a report of spilled gasoline. At the scene firemen found the report was false. The department answered the call and returned to the fire station within six minutes.

Refugee Problem Handed to Expert

(c) N.Y. Times News Service UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — Secretary General Thant announced yesterday the appointment of Nils-Goran Gussling, a ranking U.N. specialist on refugees, to conduct an on-the-spot investigation of the status and welfare of war prisoners, and the hundreds of thousands of civilians recently displaced by the Arab-Israeli war.

Thant appointed Gussling, a Swede, as his personal representative in accordance with a resolution adopted by the Security Council on June 14. The resolution called upon "the government of Israel to insure the safety, welfare and security of the inhabitants of the areas where military operations have taken place and to facilitate the return of those inhabitants who have fled the areas since the outbreak of hostilities."

The resolution also recommended to the "governments concerned the scrupulous respect of the humanitarian principles governing the treatment of prisoners of war and the protection of civilian persons in time of war contained in the Geneva convention."

The Israeli delegation said it favored the June 14 resolution and it was therefore assumed that Thant's personal representative would receive the full cooperation of Israel's civil and military authorities in carrying out his investigation. Gussling is expected to leave New York within the next few days.

Borough Mishap Involves 3 Cars

An accident on Pennsylvania avenue E., at 11:55 a.m. yesterday caused an estimated $500 damage to two of the three vehicles involved.

The accident reportedly occurred when a car operated by Freda M. Huber, 67, of 1612 Pennsylvania ave. E., struck the open door of a parked car owned by Joseph H. Baron, 28, of 112 N. Carver st. Police said the Baron vehicle was parked on the north side of Pennsylvania avenue near Irvine st. After allegedly striking the Baron car, the Huber vehicle, traveling west, veered into the eastbound lane, hitting the left rear of a car operated by Elizabeth Dillento, 50, of 8 Bauer st., police said.

Sgt. Roger L. Thelin, Warren Borough police officer investigating the accident, said no one was injured. Damage to the Baron vehicle was estimated at $200. Damage to the Huber car was estimated at $300. There was no apparent damage to the Dillento vehicle.

Legislators Blast Viet Cost Blunder

By EDMOND LEBRETON
WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional study committee said yesterday the administration had underestimated Vietnam costs last year, thus contributing to a money shortage and high interest rates.

Moreover, the Senate House Economic Committee said in a sharply worded report, "The same dreary cycle of events threatens again."

"Total spending on the war in Vietnam during the fiscal year just ending will double the administration's original estimates," the Democratic-dominated committee said. "And there are already signs that actual spending on the war in the upcoming fiscal year may again appreciably outrun first estimates."

Administration officials have repeatedly insisted their policies last year were correct and stressed that the build-up in Vietnam was accomplished without the wage and price controls which marked World War II and the Korean War.

But they also have emphasized the uncertainties of war and the possibilities of increased spending if combat operations or troop strength should escalate significantly above levels assumed in the budget.

They contend President Johnson's proposal for a tax increase this year is designed not only to help pay for the war but also to avoid the cycle of tight money and inflation which marked last year.

At hearings preceding the writing of the congressional report, the committee received what the Defense Department called a rough estimate of $21.8 billion for Vietnam war costs in the year beginning July 1, 1967.

The report said an increase of $4 billion to $6 billion in the cost is not unlikely, "and it remains to be seen whether or not even additional amounts will be required."

In addition, the report said, "It is probable that actual expenditures for the Vietnam war exceed the official figures by an appreciable margin."

It said the Defense Department has conceded its distinction between Vietnam and ordinary defense expenditures involved some unrealistic and that consequently the extra Vietnam cost "should be considered an understatement."

"In terms of official figures," the report continued, "Vietnam new obligations authority outran the original estimates by $14 billion in fiscal 1966 and $12 billion in fiscal 1967."

rates have been blamed widely, in and out of Congress, for a slowdown in residential construction, an increased burden on both governmental and private budgets and other drags on the economy.

The committee said, "The President has a clear responsibility to take prompt and adequate measures to counterbalance the effects of sudden increases — or decreases — in military requirements."

To accomplish this, it added, there should be improved coordination of the work of agencies within the executive branch.

With proper planning, the committee concluded, an end to the Vietnam war should not produce economic disruptions comparable to those following the Korean war, which absorbed a higher percentage of the gross national product.

It said the administration should keep Congress and the public more currently posted on the state of the budget and on military contract awards.

When the budget for the fiscal year which ended June 30 was originally submitted to Congress in January, 1966, it called for Vietnam spending of $10.5 billion. That figure was revised officially last January to $19.9 billion.

But Charles L. Schultze, Budget Bureau director, said the total might reach $20.4 billion when all the bills are in. A preliminary compilation will be completed by July 20.

The original budget for the last fiscal year was based on the premise that the Vietnam war would end by June 30, 1967.

The budget for the current fiscal year, which began July 1, calls for spending $22.4 billion for Vietnam and includes money for the so-called lead-time items needed to carry the war beyond the end of the fiscal year next June 30.

Officials have conceded the cost could go higher, but Schultze said in recent congressional testimony that no decisions had been made to change significantly the assumptions upon which the defense budget was planned.

But Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler has said Vietnam costs were expected to be a "little higher," based on a revised reading of the current fiscal year.

What McNamara learns here is expected to have a major impact upon President Johnson's strategic planning for the next six months. The secretary particularly hopes to discover, according to military sources, whether large numbers of additional American troops are needed to pursue the war.

Stepping onto the tarmac of Tan Son Nhut Airport, he said his visit was "no more significant than" earlier ones.

McNamara was accompanied by Under Secretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and other officials. He flew here in an Air Force jet from Washington, stopping at Elmendorf Air Force Base, Alaska.

A military spokesman said yesterday that the secretary would stay in Vietnam for five days. He will receive comprehensive briefings from American military and civilian officials, meet with Vietnamese leaders and travel to installations in the field.

McNamara is expected to spend all or part of three days outside of Saigon, visiting all four corps areas.

Informed sources said the secretary's tentative itinerary called for trips to the battle area near the demilitarized zone, where Marines have been struggling to repulse North Vietnamese regulars in recent weeks, and to the South Vietnamese 25th division near Saigon as well as other units.

He was not expected to visit either the aircraft carriers in the Gulf of Tonkin or the Air Force bases in Thailand.

McNamara's visit comes at a time when Johnson is weighing requests from General William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. military commander here, for more troops.

According to figures made public yesterday, 464,000 American servicemen are in Vietnam, plus 54,000 South Korean, Australian, New Zealand and Filipino troops.

Enemy forces were estimated at 296,000.

Present plans call for the deployment of enough additional Americans to bring the strength level to roughly 485,000 by the end of 1967.

Westmoreland has asked for up to 200,000 more men by mid-1968. A decision on his request is expected within the next few months.

Johnson is believed to be ready to give Westmoreland a 5,000-man brigade, now being formed at Fort Hood, Tex., and possibly another 15,000-man division. These forces, according to officers here, could probably be made available without undertaking a partial mobilization.

Any larger number would present serious problems. The logistical base in Vietnam would have to be increased — which would mean bringing in large numbers of support troops as well as fighting men — reserve units would have to be activated, the defense budget would have to be expanded significantly, and the already struggling Vietnamese economy would be subjected to further strains.

Military officers here insist that they cannot get along without more troops.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff, reflecting the thinking here, are reported to have told the President that the U.S. will risk losing the initiative unless at least 70,000 more men are made available by the middle of next year.

Because of the heavy fighting in the northern part of the country, Westmoreland has been forced to divert a large number of troops to that area, leaving the area around Saigon and the central highlands rather thinly garrisoned.

The Marines operating near the demilitarized zone have already lost the initiative. They are fighting on the enemy's terms and are taking very heavy losses — more than 8,000 casualties since January 1.

Since the commitment of U.S. combat troops in early 1965, the generals in Saigon have consistently agitated for more men, implying each time that they were on the verge of mounting enough strength to defeat enemy main forces.

Although the troops have been supplied, the war has remained stalemated, in the opinion of most observers, with neither side able to decisively defeat the other.

For this reason, some officials here are prepared to tell the defense secretary that more men are not the answer to the problem here. These officials, who constitute a distinct minority, plan to emphasize the need for greater concentration on the pacification campaign against Viet Cong guerrillas.

Steele-ing The Sports Scene

Hot Stove Problem

On the wall behind this writer's desk there hangs a calendar labeled "Behind-The-Headlines Sports Calendar." An illustration tops each month's schedule entitled "THE HEADLINE. . . Behind the headline," wherein the artist depicts the real story behind the announcement.

January's page told us, for example, that "7 Ft., 6 In. Schoolboy Center Matriculates at Upstate U," with a further explanation under a picture of the big cager shaking hands with the coach stating "Boyhood Dream Was to Attend Upstate. . .High School Flash Tells Coach."

The accompanying cartoon shows the smiling coach surrounded by a new car, with Playboy Bunny perched atop, a new wardrobe, golf clubs, 260 weeks of Monster Comics and a barrel of money. The much-sought after cager is saying, "Put Zebra upholstery in the Jag and it's a deal."

Ten of the eleven other months carry equally humorous insights to what really goes on in sports, but June's contribution is not quite so funny.

June's headline announces that "Local Little League Receives Community Relations Award," with a picture of the loop director accepting a plaque. The related cartoon depicts the fans at a game yelling insults at each other, several mothers and fathers coming to blows and one umpire saying to another "Call the riot squad" as a handful of unhappy youngsters stand watching the pitiful scene.

We find June somewhat less than humorous because it rings dangerously close to home. Recently, a fan physically assaulted the umpire at a Hot Stove contest and, while the attack may be a very rare occurrence, the conduct by fans at games both in the boro and in the county is becoming increasingly alarming. The offenders are in the minority, but the latest incident caused the boro Hot Stove leaders to meet to discuss the problem.

Another violation was reported last evening, long after this column was originally written, in which a fan allegedly came out on the field to grab one of the young players. This offense, in many ways, is even more reprehensible than the one reported above.

Twice before in this column we've pointed out that the Hot Stove program is designed primarily to furnish summer recreation for the boys, with the learning of baseball skills as a secondary purpose.

If the emphasis is on winning games, it is the result of an over-zealous manager or domineering parents forgetting the welfare of the youngsters.

The general little league baseball program around the country has been criticized severely by ballplayers and others associated with our national pastime as being too competitive for the younger boys to cope with mentally.

If that is the case, consider the results of the recent incident on young minds, or the thoughtless actions of adults who hurl insults at the umpire, opposing managers and other fans. And some managers are not entirely blameless, allowing the situation to occur, perhaps even instigating it, with no attempt to exercise any kind of control.

The problem is serious and the league officers have discussed numerous solutions, including dropping the program. The least that can be expected is the enforcement of existing rules covering the activities of fans at games.

If a fan, or manager, is abusive in speech or action to the umpire or anyone else connected with the game, or disrupts play on the field for any reason, he can be ordered to leave the area. His failure to do so could result in the forfeiture of the contest to the opposing team.

In the event that the situation does not improve locally, all games may be rescheduled from the evenings to the afternoons, thus reducing the number of adult fans who are able to attend.

It's unfortunate that the thoughtless actions of a few can affect the enjoyment of the game for the majority. Probably, most of the offenders kept their mouths shut earlier this spring when the league asked for help in managing and umpiring.

Certainly the young fellows who did volunteer are not getting rich and deserve all the aid and support the fans and managers can give them. If someone is not intelligent enough to realize that mistakes are going to be made, he should be barred as a spectator and the police have pledged their cooperation in the event that it's necessary.

It's a black day when the league must consider these actions and we have to write this type of editorial, but it will be a darker day in the future for the offenders.

STEELE SHAVINGS - Paul "Red" Law, all-around athlete at Franklin for the past four years, will attend Arizona State University on a grid scholarship this fall, according to the Oil City Derrick. Law, who led the Knights to a 9-1 record and the Section II football title, will join former Oiler star Jim Shaughnessy and Warren's Dick Thompson at the Arizona school.

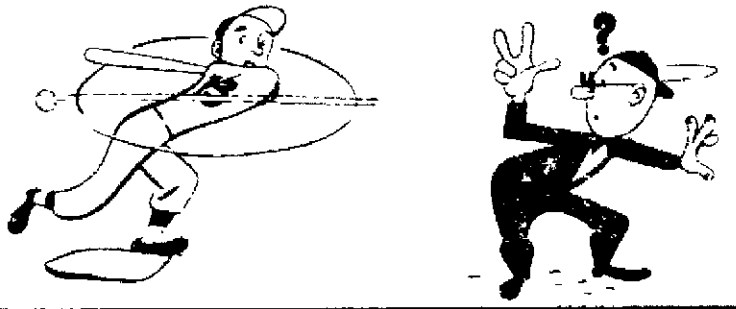

NEW MENTOR MEETS DRAGONS

Toby Shea, recently named the new head football coach at Warren Area High School, met last night with upperclassmen who will be reporting for fall drills. The informal get-together was designed to let coach see gridders and gridders see coach. Practice for the Dragons' 1967 season will not start until mid-August. Shea, a former Warren High grid and track star, left a winning record at Youngsville High to accept the post vacated earlier this year by Fred Bell, who resigned to take a position in New Jersey. (Photo by Mahan)

Steel Crushes Eagles

Warren Steel crushed the Eagles last night in Crescent Park Midget action 10-8. Mark Hahn hurled the win and Dan Knupp was tagged with the loss. Jerry Giegerich clubbed a double for Steel. Both D. Davis and B. Steele collected three-baggers. Hahn banged a round-tripper to close out action for the Steelmen. Louie Chido smashed a homerun and a triple for the Eagles. Jim Kays clubbed a double to round out Eagle action.

Forge Triumphs

National Forge triumphed over Beyer Construction last night 4-2. Tom Wolfe fanned 14 to pick up the pitching win. The loss was suffered by Dan Peterson. Jeff Passaro bombed a three-bagger and collected a double for the Forge. Tom Wolfe and Dave Smith both picked up doubles to round out the game's action. The Forge now carries a record of 3-6.

Neeley's Auto Tie

After eight innings of play in the intermediate league, Neeley's and Western Auto were tied 3-3 when the game was called for darkness. Bob Beers pitched for Neeley's and Denny Carlson hurled for Western Auto. Carlson allowed eight hits and fanned nine. Beers only managed to fan four.

Little Leaguer 'Nose' How Now

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Ten-year-old Stephen Seidl of Louisville followed instructions from Pee Wee Reese on how to catch a baseball to the final detail — almost.

Stephen read a series of tips for Little Leaguers Reese had written for a newspaper.

When trying to catch the ball "get under the ball quickly. Imagine it's going to come right down on your nose," Reese said in an article.

Stephen, an outfielder, remembered his instructions in a recent game when the ball came his way. He did just as Pee Wee had told him, and sure enough, the ball came down right on his nose.

Stephen forgot the rest of Reese's instructions: "But don't worry about getting hit. You should be holding your glove up to your chin and you'll always catch the ball before it hits your nose."

Stephen has a broken nose and two black eyes to help him remember all of the instructions next time.

Warrior-Barry Hearing Reset

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Hearing of the San Francisco Warriors, plea for a temporary order to restrain their star, Rick Barry, from jumping to Oakland of the American Basketball Association was postponed yesterday until July 19. Superior Court Judge Robert Drewes is to hear the case. Barry signed a three-year contract with the Oaks last month. The Warriors charge he violated his contracts. The Oaks say he didn't.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP:

Cards Open Lead in NL; AL Flag Race Tightens

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Orlando Cepeda, who had slammed a two-run homer earlier, rapped a ninth inning single that scored Bobby Tolson with the winning run as the National League-leading St. Louis Cardinals clipped Cincinnati 6-5 last night.

The victory lengthened the Cardinals lead to 1 1/2 games over Chicago, which lost to Houston 4-3.

Tolson singled with one out against reliever Bob Lee in the bottom of the ninth and then stole second. After Curt Flood walked, Roger Maris flied out but Cepeda singled the run home.

Julian Javier's two-out two-run homer tied it for the Cardinals in the eighth. Consecutive homers by Cepeda and Tim McCarver accounted for the first three St. Louis runs in the fourth inning.

The Reds scored twice in the third when Jim Coker tripled and came in on pitcher Mel Queen's bunt single. Queen stole second and raced all the way home on McCarver's throwing error.

Tony Perez' two-run homer gave the Reds the lead in the sixth and Cincinnati added another run in the eighth on singles by Pete Rose and Deron Johnson and an error by Ed Bressoud.

Astros-Cubs

HOUSTON (AP) — Ed Matthews' bases-loaded single capped Houston's three-run first inning explosion against Chicago's Ferguson Jenkins and the Astros scored a 4-3 victory over the Cubs last night. It was Chicago's fourth straight loss.

Bo Belinsky scattered eight hits and got ninth inning help from Carroll Sembrara for his second victory in six decisions. Jenkins is 11-6.

Houston's first five batters reached base against Jenkins, and three of them scored. Sonny Jackson opened with a single and moved to third on Joe Morgan's hit. Jimmy Wynn doubled one run across and then Rusty Staub was intentionally walked, loading the bases. Matthews' single brought two more runs in.

Wynn slammed his 20th home run in the eighth inning for Houston's final run.

The Cubs scored in the fourth on Ron Santo's double and a single by Randy Hundley. Consecutive doubles by Santo and Ernie Banks knocked Belinsky out in the ninth and set up Chicago's last two runs.

Cleveland Nips Pirates, 4-3 In Exhibition

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Vic Davillio squeezed home the winning run in the ninth inning last night to give the Cleveland Indians a 4-3 exhibition baseball game victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Davillio layed down a perfect bunt after Fred Whitfield forced a runner at the plate.

Cleveland pitcher Jim Rittwage, who huris for the club's Pawtucket, R.I., club, held the Pirates scoreless for five innings and induced Pittsburgh to hit into three double plays.

Pittsburgh struck for three runs in the sixth to take a 3-1 lead.

Indian catcher Fran Healy missed a third strike on Matty Alou, which triggered the outburst. Al Loupew's two-run double was the key blow in the inning.

Orlando Pena, who pitched the last two innings, got credit for the victory.

Twin, City Ice Cop Rec Loop Triumphs

City Ice and Twin Drive In took wins in Recreation Softball League play last night.

City Ice scored enough runs early in the game and coasted to an easy 11-2 win over Towne and Country in a tilt conducted on the Memorial diamond.

In a game played on the Westside field, Twin Drive In banded out 14 hits good for 12 runs and a 12-2 win over the Surf Club. The league-leaders now have a 14-2 record.

City Ice scored four times in the first inning. They collected single runs in the third and fourth innings before garnering five over the last two stanzas.

The Nightclubbers scored a run in the sixth and one in the seventh.

Lou Cummings belted a pair of doubles and Syd Cummings clouted a triple to back the six-hit pitching of Charlie Pettit.

Jim Ostergard, who gave up 12 hits, was tagged with the loss. Tom Torne and Jack Colvin each had three hits, including a double apiece, to pace Twin Drive In to the 12-2 romp over the Surfers.

Colvin was also the winning pitcher. He surrendered 10 hits to the Surf Club, but only one was of the extra-base variety. Dick Merenick had a double for the losers.

Dick White had a triple and Tony Prosen belted his first home run of the season to lead the TDI long-ball assault.

Hurlier Jim Dahler kept the Twin Drive In at bay for the first two innings while his mates picked up one run, but in the third and fourth TDI put on a six-run spurt to take over the lead.

The Surfers got a run back in the fifth, but TDI closed the door on them with three tallies in the sixth and another trio in the seventh.

The game scheduled between Sparkle and Mineral Well was postponed by mutual agreement of the team's managers. The game had been scheduled for Wilder Field.

Linescores of last night's games were as follows.
City Ice 401 102 3 -- 11 12
T & C 000 001 1 -- 2 6

Bankers Vs. Beverage in Erie Tonite

The Warren Baseball Club, with a disappointing loss in the NBC State Tournament behind it, opens the second half of Glenwood League play tonight against Security-Peoples Trust. The 6:30 contest is slated for Bayview Field in Erie.

The Bankers finished third to Beverage and Ferraro Ford in the first half windup, but figure to be a contender over the last part of the season.

Both the Beveragemen and Fordmen compiled 13-3 records in first half action and will play off for the title on Saturday, July 22. The site of the tilt will be announced at a later date.

Beverage held a 3-1 edge in games with Security - Peoples the first time around and will have to hustle to take the same margin in the final tour around the loop.

The Bankers started second half play Tuesday, shading Koehler Beer 5-3 behind the slants of ex-Beverage hurler Dick Holiday, who recently rejoined the Erie club.

In their second half action this week, Ferraro Ford slipped by Bihler Tire of West Springfield, 4-3. The Fordmen were slated to meet Bihler's again last night at Girard.

Sunday, Beverage hosts the West Springfield club in a doubleheader at War Memorial Field. The opener is slated to start at 1 p.m. The twinnbill will mark the second appearance of ex-Major League star Sam Jethroe here.

Orioles-ChiSox

CHICAGO (AP) — Paul Blair blasted a solo homer in the first and singled across another run in the third, pacing the Baltimore Orioles to a 3-1 victory over the first-place Chicago White Sox yesterday.

The setback in the American League's only game of the day shaved the White Sox margin to 2 1/2 games over the rampaging Minnesota Twins, who open a vital four-game visit here tonight.

In squaring a four-game set, the Orioles got stingy five-hit pitching from Dave McNally, who recorded his fifth victory against as many defeats.

Chicago's only run came on a two-out homer in the second by Dick Kenworthy, who also belted a wasted double in the fifth. Tom McCraw singled his first two times at bat and Gerry McNertney singled in the eighth.

The loser was Jim O'Toole, first of four Sox pitchers, who was yanked for a pinch hitter after yielding a 2-1 Baltimore lead in three innings on four hits.

Johnny Buzhardt was hampered for a fourth-inning homer by Sam Bowens and after that, Willbur Wood and Don McMahon held the Orioles to one hit in the final five innings.

PACKERS GET TWO IN TRADE, OBTAIN WILSON FROM RAMS

It's Official: Jimmy Taylor Signs Contract with New Orleans Club

By JACK OWENS
Associated Press Writer
BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Fullback Jimmy Taylor, whose piston-legged charges helped power the Green Bay Packers to eight winning seasons, signed yesterday to play with the New Orleans Saints.

"I hoped to return to Louisiana, my home state," said Taylor, who played out his option last fall with Green Bay.

Terms of the contract, signed in the office of Louisiana Gov. John McKeithen, were not announced. Taylor said only that he would receive about what he Green Bay said the deal with the Saints was reached without involving NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle. The two teams had haggled over Taylor for about seven weeks.

Lombardi declined further comment on the Taylor trade but announced another swap in which the Packers will receive fullback Ben Wilson from the Los Angeles Rams in exchange for a future draft choice.

Wilson, a third-year veteran with Los Angeles, was a fifth round draft choice of the Rams for 1963. Since entering pro ball, he has accumulated a 3.5-yard rushing average and 12.1-yard pass reception average.

Taylor, a former Louisiana State star, is regarded by many as the hardest hitting fullback in the game. In 1960, he broke Tony Canadeo's rushing record of 1,101 yards in 230 carries.

The veteran fullback of nine years was signed by the Packers as a No. 2 selection in 1958. He managed to pound out 452 yards the next year despite a home accident that kept him out of six games.

Taylor set NFL records five straight years with more than 1,000 yards carrying the ball, placing him third on the all-time rushing rankings behind Jim Brown and Joe Perry.

A four-time member of the West Pro Bowl squad, Taylor led the league in touchdowns with 16 in 1961 and 19 in 1962.

Golfers Win Battle, Granted Veto Power

By RON GILBERT
AP Sports Writer
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The touring pros and the Professional Golfers Association yesterday settled a dispute that had threatened the national PGA tournament.

Dan Sikes, chairman of the tournament committee, said the executive committee of the PGA agreed to give up its veto power over any action taken by the tournament committee at a meeting attended by all eight members.

The tournament committee is made up of four players and four PGA executives.

Sikes said the PGA will retain the veto power only where the tournament committee acts with fewer than eight members present.

In view of this, the players voted to honor all commitments for the balance of the 1967 season, including the PGA and Ryder Cup matches.

The agreement also was announced in Palm Beach, Fla., by PGA President Max Elbin.

Under the agreement, Sikes said the executive committee will not override any decision by the advisory committee, which will be appointed to arbitrate any ties on the tournament committee.

"However, the players still are not completely satisfied with the present arrangement concerning their phase of the PGA operation," Sikes said in a statement. "and will go to the

Nick Eddy of the East squad, who stopped off after his practice session to watch the West team at work in preparation for tomorrow's Coaches All-America game, wipes the sweaty brow of Mel Farr, named as a starter by Bob Devaney yesterday. All-America Grid Contest West Starters Announced

By RON SPEER
AP Sports Writer
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — West Coach Bob Devaney announced his starting lineup yesterday for tomorrow night's Coaches All-America game with the offense built around the running and passing of quarterback Jon Brittenum of Arkansas.

Brittenum, an elusive runner twice named to the All-Southwest Conference team and holder of most Arkansas passing records, will be spelled by Bo Burris, Houston passing whiz.

Joining Brittenum in the starting backfield for the nationally televised game, which will be blacked out locally, will be halfbacks Rod Sherman of Southern Cal and Mel Farr of UCLA and fullback Harry Wilson, who played under Devaney at Nebraska.

Passing targets for Brittenum will be split end Dave Williams of Washington, who has been making spectacular catches in practice, and tight end Tom Beer of Houston.

Loyd Phillips, 241-pound Arkansas bulwark, will anchor the defensive line for the West and serve as co-captain with Williams, with another Razorback grad, Martine Bercher, starting at defensive safety.

"You have to start somebody, but everyone will get a chance to play," Devaney said. "Sometimes in all-star games you have some kids that hurt you when you put them in the game, but that isn't true this year. "Everybody on the West team is a standout and everyone will play."

East Coach Tom Cahill of Army will announce his starters today, with his biggest problem expected to be choosing a quarterback, where he will have to pick between the top two finishers in the Heisman Trophy voting last fall, Steve Spurrier of Florida and Bob Griese of Purdue.

Keino-Ryun Meeting Could Spell Record

By JACK STEVENSON
AP Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Keino's Kipchoke Keino provides America's Jim Ryun his toughest competition of the year tomorrow which could bring a world record for 1,500 meters in the United States-British Commonwealth Track Meet.

"Records are sometimes made while running alone, but more often they come from competition," says Keino significantly.

Ryun lowered his world mile record to 3 minutes, 51.1 seconds at Bakersfield, Calif., two weeks ago. On the same weekend, Keino ran a 3:55 at 6,000-foot altitude in Kenya. Runners go faster at sea level, and Keino turned in a 3:53.4 last year in London.

In the metric mile at the Los Angeles Coliseum, the world's two fastest milers attack the 3:35.6 record by Australia's Herb Elliott in the 1960 Olympic Games.

Asked to compare the mile with the 1,500, Ryun said, "I guess the 1,500 which is 120 yards shorter, could be a better distance to set a record."

He sticks to his policy of never predicting a record run.

Keino has faced Ryun only once, losing at two miles in last year's Coliseum Relays.

"My only worry about Ryun is if I have trained enough," the 5-foot, 9-inch, 145-pound Kenya policeman said. "This is only just the beginning of our season."

Two Knotted In Speedway In Speedway Golf Opener

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — R. H. Sikes and Rod Funseth whipped the Speedway Course with their putters yesterday and took the first-round lead in the $100,000 Speedway Open Golf Tournament with 5-under-par 67s.

Sikes, who was lacing his irons close to the pins, used only 25 putts, and the longest were 12-footers.

Funseth took 28 putts, rolling in five for birdies from 12 to 20 feet, but the shot that put him at the front with Sikes was a 120-foot wedge that dropped for an eagle 3 on the 503-yard seventh hole. As he played the course, starting on the 10th tee, it was his 16th.

Sikes also holed out one shot from off the green, a 25-foot chip for a birdie 3 on the 425-yard fifth hole.

Lou Graham, another hot blade man with 27 putts, finished 4 under par at 68 and was the clubhouse leader for some time as an early finisher.

The three front-runners had a little breathing space. Their closest pursuers at 70 were Steve Spray, Frank Beard and amateur Ed Tutwiler.

Tutwiler, Indiana amateur champion and a member of the Walker Cup team, gave the pros the shakes with a 3-under-par 33 on the front nine, but he slipped to bogeys on the 13th and 14th.

Seven other pros broke par with 1-under 71s. Each carded 35-36 except Dick Crawford, who shot 32 on the front nine after playing the back nine first in 39.

Defending champion Billy Casper, winner of the Canadian Open in a playoff Monday, was back in the field at par 72.

Shafer Says Budget Is Misunderstood

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa. (AP) — Gov. Shafer declared again yesterday that any further reductions in his proposed $1.791 billion budget would "seriously jeopardize the well-being of our state and its people."

Shafer made the remark in a speech prepared for an appearance at a dinner commemorating "Ray Shafer Day" in Punxsutawney.

He said:

"There is not one subject I know that is so misunderstood in our state today than the budget I have presented to the General Assembly and the revenue program I have suggested to raise the money we need to pay for the budget."

In seeking public support for his budget and the $267 million he needs in additional taxes to balance it, Shafer stressed what he said were salient facts to the situation.

First, he said, of the $267 million he is asking for in new taxes, $210 million of it was required to pay for programs already enacted by previous legislatures over which his administration has no control.

"If the people of Pennsylvania do not want to provide these services, then their legislators will be required to introduce legislation that would repeal the laws that require me to carry them out," he said.

The remainder of the tax funds are accounted for in new or expanded programs the administration is proposing to initiate this year, Shafer continued.

Shafer noted that he reduced his departmental budget requests by $88 million before submitting the spending program to the legislature and then, in unison with the lawmakers, cut another $70 million off of his original $1.861 billion request.

"As taxpayers, I know that we all are concerned about the soaring cost of living," the governor observed, "the increased burden to pay for programs, and the high cost of our national obligations."

"But as Pennsylvanians, I hope we are prepared to meet our legitimate obligations to provide services that not only help people, but provide for the growth of the Commonwealth."

Shafer is Accused Of Spending Spree

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Shafer reported yesterday that the state ended the 1966-67 fiscal year with a total $64 million surplus — $3 million more than the governor had predicted last June 1 when he proposed $267 million in new taxes.

Shafer said he hoped the final official figure would "put an end to the fiscal game played by the minority these past weeks." He referred to House Democrats who have stalled the tax program on the ground the administration was overstating its needs.

The governor's announcement of the actual surplus was contained in a memorandum sent to Reps. H. Jack Seltzer, R-Lebanon, and Martin F. Mullen, D-Philadelphia, majority and minority chairmen respectively of the House Appropriations Committee.

The announcement obviously was timed to coincide with a meeting of the two lawmakers, who sought to iron out party differences over the governor's proposed $1.791 billion budget for the new fiscal year and the tax program.

Shafer said lapses, or unexpended appropriations, totaled $40.7 million, compared with his earlier estimate of $42 million. Democrats had estimated $82 million. Revenue collections were $4.7 million more than administration predictions and $13.7 million below the Democrats' estimates.

"I submit that these final figures should stop once and for all the unfounded claims that the administration would have $82 million in lapses and a surplus of $100 million," Shafer said.

"Now that the administration has proven its fiscal credibility, I exhort you to move ahead with the task of providing the increased revenues, passing a budget, and keeping Pennsylvania moving."

In reaction to the governor's memorandum, House Minority Leader Herbert Fineman, D-Philadelphia, charged the administration with going on a spending spree during the month of June in order to substantiate the lapse estimate.

"We were appalled at the governor's gleeful statement, showing that he had been able to set a record spending pace in June and thus add to the tax rolls of the citizens of Pennsylvania," Fineman said in a statement.

Steel Price Hike Is Hinted at By Industry Leader

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The new president of top-ranked U.S. Steel Corp. hinted yesterday at the possibility of increased steel prices in the coming months.

Edwin H. Gott, in his first meeting with newsmen since taking over U.S. Steel's corporate reins last Saturday, said the cost-price situation is "tighter than it has been for some time."

Steelmen are not in the habit of openly discussing prices, and Gott was no exception. He said he couldn't forecast what the next few months hold in the realm of prices, but conceded there is the possibility of steel price increases in the fall.

Gott declined to comment on earnings during an informal news conference at U.S. Steel's skyscraper headquarters, but said he expects the fourth quarter of this year to show a "material improvement" following a normal third quarter.

Sales and earnings in the nation's steel industry so far this year have declined from last year's record highs, due in part, from a slowdown in orders from the auto industry — steel's biggest customer.

Steelmen are looking to a improved fourth quarter and a good first quarter in 1968. Gott pointed out, however, that this depends on whether steel comes to a quick agreement with the United Steelworkers in next year's contract talks.

He said a quick agreement would prevent strike-related loss.

TOURIST COUNCIL HELPS

20,000 Campers Pack State Park

PATTON, P. (AP) — The Vanguard of 20,000 or more vacationing campers ready for their annual sleep-out began trickling into Prince Gallitzin State Park yesterday. But they'll have a hard time getting away from it all, because it's all there waiting for them. A fresh air community has been thrown up near the brisk, blue waters of Lake Glendale, complete with supermarket, post office, police force, fire department, roads, showers and sewage.

Philip Wilt has already stocked 450,000 hot dogs and 36,000 hamburgers to sell the first three days of the one-week get-together which starts Monday.

Six miles of water lines have been laid. A 400,000 gallon water tank has been erected. And 200 showers have been installed. Also ready: 1,240 garbage cans, 400 toilets, 160 waste water tanks and 15 miles of wire for a public address system.

It's the annual convention of the National Campers and Hikers Association, called the 1967 Campvention.

The Cambria County Tourist Council, which is trying to make the week as pleasant as possible for the outdoor enthusiasts from 39 states, staked out 6,000 lots in the 6,600-acre park north of Johnstown in the Alleghenies.

More than 5,100 trailers have already registered and 500 of them pulled into the camp five days before the meeting officially gets started.

Seven miles of new roadway were constructed in hopes of avoiding traffic jams in the wide open spaces. Twenty-five community policemen will patrol along with State Police.

And the campers won't lack for entertainment. They'll be attending meetings, taking part in contests, going on tours or just splashing around in 1,640-acre Lake Glendale.

One of the highlights of the convention will be a parade July 13 in nearby Altoona. It's expected to be the largest parade in the history of the area with more than 110 marching units.

About the only thing lacking at the convention will be park-wide air conditioning, but that's how it goes when you're roughing it.

Emergency Oil Lift For Europe Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Foreign Petroleum Supply Committee is being called into session here today to initiate an emergency oil lift to Europe as a result of the Mideast shut-down.

The committee, composed of representatives from 26 U.S. oil companies with overseas operations, has been asked by the government to make a detailed survey of needs and available supplies and transportation facilities.

Then, with approval by the attorney general, it will lay out a plan of action pooling the resources of each company. Under the government-sponsored program the companies are co-operate without antitrust prosecution.

John Ricca, deputy director of the U.S. Office of Oil and Gas, was designated chairman of the committee. Ricca is a former oil company executive who spent 17 years in the Middle East and North Africa.

WARREN, PA., FRIDAY, JULY 7, 1967

ANNUAL VFW MEETING

Manfrey Leads Group To State Convention

Eugene R. Manfrey of Warren, junior vice commander of the Pennsylvania Veterans of Foreign Wars, will head a local delegation attending the 48th annual VFW state convention in Pittsburgh July 12-15.

Having come up through the ranks in the veteran's organization as a member of Dinsmoor-Schwing Post, 631 and a past 19th district commander, Manfrey is seeking election to the post of senior vice commander with the election scheduled for Saturday, June 15.

Manfrey is a veteran of the occupation forces in Japan and the Korean War where he served with the 35th Infantry Regiment of the 25th Division. He was a member of the 28th Division National Guard prior to enlisting in the regular army in 1947.

The Warren man has fulfilled every chair in his own post, becoming post commander in 1957-58. At the 1965 convention Manfrey, who had many department appointments, was named to the office of state

VFW judge advocate. Mrs. Manfrey and two of the couple's five children will attend the convention with the veteran. Also planning to attend are Bob Eadie, Dinsmoor-

Schwing post commander; Charles G. Pearson, past district commander; Don Raybuck Sr., Joseph Wilks Jr., Joe DeMarco and Don Gebhardt, all local post members.

Major General Eugene A. Salet, commandant of the Army War College in Carlisle will address delegates at a banquet July 13.

Among dozens of resolutions before the convention are two supporting constitutional amendments, the Dirksen "Prayer Amendment" and one proposed by Justice Michael Musmanno overturning a U.S. Supreme Court ruling which invalidated state laws barring subversives from staffs of state-owned colleges and universities.

Other resolutions call for broadening the Cold War GI Bill, making Flag Day, June 14, a national holiday and creating veterans cemeteries in Pennsylvania.

Between 10,000 and 12,000 overseas war veterans and their families are expected in Pittsburgh at the Penn. Sheraton Hotel.

Erie Council Paws-es for Dog Fight

ERIE—Bones of contention still exist in the controversy over the city canine corps and its dog food supply.

The investigation still was open Wednesday despite a detailed report from the police department.

Still having a bone to pick over the matter is Council president Robert Brabender, who growled with dissatisfaction over Police Chief Armand Chimenti's report.

Chimenti's report lists total amounts of dog food since formation of the corps this spring. Brabender says there is a discrepancy in the report, according to another report of Arthur Gehrlin, city controller.

According to Brabender, Chief Chimenti's report lists value of a donation from Dad's Dog Food of Meadville at $553 whereas the controller's report shows $853.

When Brabender seemed still unconvinced that all the dog food has been used properly, Mayor Louis J. Tullio barked, "no one else is eating it."

Brabender said he also wants answers on the future of the canine corps, how many dogs will make up the corps and status and number of policemen involved.

Mayor Tullio and Chief Chimenti will be present at next week's council meeting to give the answers.

BIRD SANCTUARY POND BUILT

Large Reservoir Built for Birds

Charles A. Neel is creating a million-gallon reservoir with approximately three-quarters of an acre water surface at his home and bird sanctuary at Saybrook.

The pond was surveyed and designed by Willis Ebner, Conservation Technician with U.S. Dept. of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service. He is also supervising its construction.

The area was found to have an underlying clay strata, capable of forming a water-tight reservoir.

Charles and Mrs. Neel hope the pond will increase the edges of water to encourage wild life to collect in the area, with more birds nesting. The Neel homestead swarms with birds and other wild life.

The lake is a water conservation measure, and will add to the beauty of the place, besides providing private recreation, including swimming, fishing and picnicking.

Willis Ebner, who designed the pond and is supervising its construction, has designed many similar projects throughout Warren County, as a part of the service of the local Soil Conservation Service office. "This is only one of many types of conservation measures the Soil Conservation Service assists land owners to develop," Ebner says.

These include conversion terraces, water spring developments for home and farm water supply; drainage of wet lands, and general improvement of vegetative cover to avoid erosion of land.

3 Crashes Probed by Troopers

State police of the Warren substation were kept busy Wednesday with three accident investigations.

Trooper John Barnes was called to the scene of a one-car crash which occurred on Route 6 in Sheffield township at an unknown hour.

During the course of the investigation police learned the car involved had been stolen in Clearfield Tuesday night from Andrew J. Snyder, 214 Moose st., Clearfield.

Barnes said the vehicle, operated by an unknown person, traveling west on Route 6 apparently went out of control and spun into four guard rails. Damage to the stolen car was listed at $340; to guard rails, $40.

A tractor-trailer sideswiped a car shortly before noon Wednesday on Route 6 in Mead township.

Trooper Daniel Portzer stated the tractor-trailer, driven by Kenneth R. Yahne, 1305 New Haven ave., Fort Wayne, Ind., traveling east while negotiating a sharp curve at the end of a steel bridge sideswiped a car operated by Mildred Mae Jones, RD 1, Kane, traveling west and stopped on the westbound lane. Total damage was estimated at $145.

Erie Mayor's Home Damaged

ERIE—An unidentified driver smashed a stolen car through the front of Mayor Louis J. Tullio's new house under construction here.

The accident occurred at 2 a.m. when the driver traveling east on Grandview, turned left onto Magnolia, struck a fire hydrant and backed up 120 feet into the mayor's house.

Neighbors summoned police but the driver of the car was not at the scene when they arrived.

Police said the car was stolen sometime after 12:15 a.m. yesterday on E. 36th st. Police have the car at city hall garage, where they dusted it for fingerprints.

Escapee Found Near Bear Lake

CORRY—A report to Corry based state police Monday of a suspicious looking man in the Bear Lake area resulted in the capture of a trustee who walked away from Chautauqua County jail in Mayville Sunday.

Taken in tow without incident by Trooper John Evanko and Trooper Richard Gambino was George Miller, 43, of Grand Valley.

Miller's capture came shortly after 3 p.m. Monday when a resident of Bear Lake called Sgt. George Martin head of the Corry station.

Sgt. Martin sent the two troopers to investigate and on arrival in Bear Lake they observed the subject in a grocery store.

Miller was returned to the substation where he was fingerprinted and interrogated. He was then taken to North Warren where he was arraigned before Peace Justice Raymond P. Gilmore on a fugitive-from-justice charge.

At the arraignment Miller waived extradition and was returned to Mayville jail to await further action by New York State authorities.

Police said Miller was captured about 25 hours after walking out the back door of the jail in Mayville where he was serving a one-year sentence for criminal negligence involving a fatal automobile accident.

Town Crier

... By Les Rickey

The miniskirt revolution is on the upswing, to make a little play on words.

Fashion experts say the miniskirt is not only in, but even more so than before. The outlook is for higher-than-ever hemlines. The end is not yet in sight.

But they are not completely popular, the Associated Press reports. The mid-aged woman with the maxi-figure in a miniskirt, says the AP, is a revolting situation.

Now I'm no fashion expert, but there is something to be learned from all of this. When you add the miniskirt to the topless craze, you've got something that spells trouble. It doesn't take much imagination to see that there is a serious situation here.

The textile industry, which can be blamed for some of the problem, is feeling the pinch. Not much cloth goes into such outfits, and they need little attention, at least from the wearer.

I wouldn't be surprised if the whole thing has caused the state of the economy. Not only is there dollar loss in the textile and retail industries, think of all of the time involved in offices across the land where men try to work with women in miniskirts.

It can't last. What goes up, a famous American once observed, must come down.

Of course, he was relying only upon physical laws, not human behavior.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our firm has a bowling league—husbands and wives. My wife, Tallulah, and I are both on the first team. Tallulah fell last month and broke her collar bone. The team captain suggested Mrs. D. (she lives in his building) as a substitute. Her husband is in the Army in Hawaii. A week after Tallulah fell, we had league playoffs and she wanted to watch. I told her she was too weak and to stay home. She got our 17-year-old son to bring her. Mrs. D. is a timid woman and I complimented her to build her confidence. My wife heard me and got sore. Our son got into the act, too. He said, "Mother can bowl better with a broken collar bone than that woman on her best day. Why don't you compliment HER?" He got into quite a hassle and I was pretty embarrassed.

Yesterday Mrs. D. called Tallulah and asked if it would be O.K. if I took her to shop for some decorations for her club's dinner dance. (She doesn't drive.) Tallulah said, "If you want to become involved with a married man, that's your business, but leave me out of it." I thought this was very rude and said so. Now Tallulah treats me like I'm a criminal. Mrs. D. doesn't mean a thing to me. I love my wife. What do you think of all this?—EIGHT BALL.

DEAR EIGHT BALL: I think Mrs. D. has more nerve than brains and if you are smart you'll stay away from her and let her get the decorations the same way she'd have got them before she met you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a mother of a six-year-old girl and a two-year-old boy. The girl had a lovely disposition until her brother was born. Then she became sullen and disobedient. I realized she was unhappy at losing the limelight and I tried to give her extra love and affection.

For a while she improved, but about three months ago she became more difficult than ever. When I told her she could not have ALL my attention, that her little brother deserved some, too, she said, "I hate you."

I was sick at heart to think my own child would say such a thing to me. Yesterday she said it again when I insisted that she put away her toys and go to bed. (It was 20 minutes past her bedtime.)

How should I have responded when my child said, "I hate you"?—EL PASO L.

DEAR EL PASO: When your child said "I hate you," and almost every child says this, at some time during childhood (if he doesn't say it, he thinks it), the best reply would have been, "I'm very sorry you hate me, because I LOVE you. And because I love you I'm going to see that you follow the rules around here. Pick up your toys and go to bed NOW."

CONFIDENTIAL TO: FRIEND OR FOE: Kicks like these could kick your marriage right into the divorce court. A good friend would not ask to borrow your husband for an evening as if he were a turkey roaster. Tell her if she is so hard up for a man she should call an Escort Service (New York has several) and pay the guy for his time.

Hints From Heloise

Packing Lunches

DEAR HELOISE:

My tip is for those who pack lunches during hot days. I spread the bread with mayonnaise or mustard in the usual way and place it in a sandwich bag in the lunch box.

Then I roll lunch meat and place it in a plastic bag which I pack in a chilled wide-mouth, small vacuum bottle. When lunch time comes there's no danger of spoiled lunch meat. All hungry folks need to do is open the jug and put their own sandwich together.

Valentine

And since you have that nice wide-mouth vacuum bottle, why not sometimes put in thin slices of your leftover roast and pour hot gravy over it and then cap it?

Even on hot days a hot roast beef sandwich is good.

Heloise

DEAR HELOISE: We could never find a ruler or measuring tape when we needed it until we discovered that we could hold the object to be measured against the tiles in the kitchen or bath. Wall tiles are usually four inches and floor tiles are nine or twelve inches.

So terribly simple and always there once you know the width of your tiles.

Mrs. Clara Smith

DEAR HELOISE: When nights are hot and humid, instead of pinning back my nylon curtains, I put the bottom of them through a wire coat hanger, lift the hanger and hook it to the rod. This lets the air in and the curtains stay clean longer because they're held away from the window screens.

A. F. L.

A New You by Emily Wilkens

Let's Talk Hairpieces

The hair piece rage is getting bigger than all of us. It seems that those who were once satisfied with their very own tresses are now piling on wigs, falls and switches for both day and evening wear.

There is no doubt that hair pieces, used in moderation, can add attractive fullness and height. Even so, I think there's nothing better (especially for the young) than a home-grown, luxurious head of clean, healthy well-groomed hair, worn in a becoming style.

Sometimes, it's just not possible to make your own mane fall into the swinging look of a medieval princess that seems to be the "with it" style of the moment. Or, you might want to be a different you by transforming your short coil into an elegant evening upsweep.

1. Determine What Your Goals Are: If you're merely after some fun fakery, a synthetic piece can do the trick, particularly if used as a switch or decorative put-on.

A medium-priced machine-made real hair piece can be effective if your hairdo needs extra bulk or body.

However, if you plan to use the piece on top of your own hair, the most natural looking addition is made of real hair, hand sewed or hand tied on a lightweight base.

2. Whose Hair Is It?: When buying a real hair wig or piece, try to find out the country of origin. European hair is the best. Don't look for bargains in real hair. What seems like a sensational buy may turn out to behave like doll's hair when you get it home.

3. In The Right Light: See the hair piece in every light before you buy. You're better off, too, selecting a piece that matches your hair closely in color and texture than trying to have one dyed to match.

If you are having one made to order, submit an accurate "swatch" of your hair and by all means approve the match before the piece is put together.

4. Handle With Care: When you fasten a piece, don't scalp yourself. The hair has to be fastened on firmly, but hairpins shouldn't act like an abrasive on your scalp.

Make a little pincurl with crisscross bobby pins and anchor the piece to this. Change the spot often or you'll have falling hair instead of a fall.

5. Cleanliness Counts: Your hairpieces should always be clean. A professional cleaning at least once a month is a must. Or, buy a special cleaning agent for wigs and do it yourself. When you're not wearing your piece, keep it set on large rollers away from dust or heat.

Most important, a hair piece should never take over because you didn't have time to wash or set your own hair.

From Our Corner

By LENORE MCINTYRE

A BLIND SPOT

It's nice to know the highway construction program throughout the state is running ahead of schedule and the $30 million six-year county plan also is shaping up. There hasn't been much publicity now that the dirt actually is flying but anyone driving between Youngsville and Warren is quite aware of the work underway in that area.

The initial six-year program will give us a fine four-lane stretch of Route 6 from Youngsville, around Warren, to connect with Route 59 to the Kinzua Dam. Improvements to Route 62 north of Warren will provide a modern highway in that area of the county and a bridge on lower Market street in Warren will connect 62 with the Warren bypass carrying Route 6 traffic.

When the current six-year program is completed another plan will be ready. The projected plan will include a road from Route 62 (north of Warren) through Hatch Run to the dam. This will encircle the dam with modern access highways, a little late in coming but considerably better than never.

The second phase of highway planning also will include a four-lane from Pittsfield to Titusville, where it will connect with a four-lane from Titusville to Pittsburgh. And Route 6 will get more attention by means of a four-lane from Youngsville to Corry where it will hook into the four-lane bypass in that area.

Somehow or other, those who plan highways and those who are working for recreational development as a byproduct of the dam do not apparently have a meeting of minds. Where, in the highway plans for the next ten or twelve years, do you find any attention being paid to highways (new or improved) along the Allegheny River where the bulk of recreational activity will take place?

The Allegheny River from the Irvine bridge to Oil City, served by an obsolescent Route 62, is the destination of those who "stay and play." Along this stretch of the river is where you find the camps and cottages, picnic areas, and related recreational facilities. This is the area where recreation supporters are urging private development.

This stretch of the river comprises some of the most scenic country in the East. But few people will ever see it because of a long-neglected highway that twists and turns over a narrow rough roadbed, much of which is devoid of adequate berms. I would not favor a four-lane being built along this stretch of the river, because to do so would probably be the kiss of death for its natural beauty and wilderness character. But the highway should be rebuilt, perhaps even relocated in some areas, to provide good access to this fifty-mile stretch.

The Allegheny doesn't begin nor end at the dam. The area around the reservoir never can accommodate all those who wish to camp or have a picnic, to fish, swim or boat. These activities will extend up and down the river, providing people can reach the river.

Aside from the recreation industry potential which an improved highway would accommodate, there is the everyday bread-and-butter traffic which should receive some consideration. This volume increases every year but no one seems to be aware of this except those who travel Route 62 daily in the pursuit of earning a living or carrying on a business.

Perhaps we need a statistician in Harrisburg to put the figures down in black and white. Everyone seems so surprised to learn that Warren county's population has jumped by about five thousand heads in the last few years and this wasn't supposed to happen until early in the next decade. If they had been more observant and had heeded the cry for housing they would have noticed the growth.

With all the blind spots that progress has had to contend with in Warren county it's a miracle that we have made any advances. And one of the major blind spots is Route 62, SOUTH.

A TEN-YEAR long (1995-2005) series of festivities is being envisioned by the World Association for Celebrating the Year 2000. Sounds like it could prove the bingie of the century in fact of both of 'em.

The association is known, for short, as WACY 2000. However, don't let that fool you -- we, for one, think their idea is a very good one.

Rain clouds greeted delegates to the Prohibition Party's national convention in Detroit. A forecast of their chances in the 1968 presidential election?

Because the shortage of furliners and the increase in the number of equines nationally, the University of Maine is launching a series of four-week courses to teach the trade of being a blacksmith. Does this mean we're headed right back to the horse-and-buggy days?

Air raids, according to an ornithologist, are tough on birds. Especially that little white-feathered fellow we call the dove of peace!

If you think meat prices are too high, think what they must have been like in Mother Goose's time! Remember the Cow that jumped over the Moon?

With those perennial second divisioners, the Chicago Cubs, battling it out for first place in the National League it's difficult these days to convince a sports page reader he isn't holding the paper upside down!

Sport parlance can be confusing -- a weak batter is often called a setup when what is really meant is, he's a sure knock-down.

Spain Hikes Papers

MADRID (AP) — With government approval, the price of a newspaper in Spain increases Thursday to three pesetas from two—5 cents U.S. from 3.3. By agreement, part of the increase goes toward higher pay for journalists.

THE LONG STRUGGLE

This century plant is in bloom after waiting for about 100 years for the big event to happen. It's probably not worth it all—the plant dies after it blooms. The rare specimen is at Warren State Hospital. (Photo by Mansfield)

Increases in Prices, Crops Are Reported

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania farmers this summer may have their best crops of barley, rye and wheat in six years, the State Crop Reporting Service said yesterday.

The service also said in its weekly report that prospects for a good sweet corn crop look excellent because of the recent warm weather and adequate moisture.

Grapes in Erie County show promise of a good crop despite hail damage suffered late last month, the service said.

The crop service also reported prices received by Pennsylvania farmers for their goods in June showed a slight increase over the previous month.

The service said that vegetable, meat animal and dairy product increases more than offset declines in poultry, eggs and grain.

On a national level, farm prices showed an advance of 1 per cent for the month ended June 15, the service said.

LSD Use is Up in Navy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Navy figures show drug usage among sailors has climbed at a rate more than double that of last year. The hallucinatory drug LSD has been involved in 28 cases resulting in administrative discharges since February.

The figures, as well as a new anti-LSD directive issued last month, seem to indicate more and more Navy men are taking psychedelic trips on LSD — trips that in most cases carry them right out of the Navy.

In response to questions, the Navy said yesterday that in the first five months of this year, 187 Navy men had been given administrative — nonpunitive but not honorable — discharges for wrongful possession or use of drugs.

This compares with 176 similar cases in all of 1966.

Apparently the Navy began keeping track of LSD cases only this year. No figures were available for 1966, but the Navy said records beginning in February indicated that 28 of the 187 administrative discharges given this year involved some use or mention of LSD.

According to the figures, drug usage among Navy ranks has risen at a monthly rate more than 2½ times that of 1966.

Averages Indicate Small Stock Losses

(c) N. Y. Times News Service
NEW YORK — The New York Stock Exchange closed yesterday with 613 advances against 602 declines, and the market averages showed small losses for the day.

American Telephone, which eased 3/4 Wednesday in anticipation of a Federal Communications Commission order to cut rates, did not open until 11:15 a.m., when a block of 75,000 shares traded at 55, down 3/4 from Wednesday's close. It subsequently dipped to a 1967 low of 53 1/2, off 2 1/4 from Wednesday's close, before recovering in late trading. The stock closed yesterday at 54 1/4, down 1 1/2, on trades of 371,500 shares the heaviest trading of the day.

Many Wall Street observers had believed the stock's decline from last year's high of 63 1/2 and its record high of 75 in 1967 had already discounted the FCC decision. Last year, the stock traded as low as 49 1/4. Several other telephone issues lost ground. General Telephone dipped a point to 48 1/4, and Mid-Continent Telephone declined a point to 23 1/4.

International Telephone, which has no telephone operations in the U.S., rose 2 1/2 to 98 1/2, and Comsat, which operates a world-wide communications satellite, rose 2 1/4 to 74 1/2.

The weakness in Telephone contributed to the declines in the market averages. The Dow-Jones industrial average closed at the day's low of 864.02, down 0.92 point.

The New York Stock Exchange composite index eased 0.02 point to 50.67, and Standard & Poor's 500-stock index dipped 0.04 point to 91.32.

The New York Times combined average of 50 industrial and railroad stocks closed at 513.63, up 2.10 points. The industrial average, which included American Telephone, rose 4.17 points to 883.79. Gains in General Motors, Eastman Kodak, International Nickel and Sears Roebuck accounted for the bulk of the advance.

On the American Stock Exchange, 924 stocks were traded; 355 rose and 362 declined. Volume advanced to 5,508,090 shares from 5,406,680 Wednesday. The index advanced 5 cents to $20.33 at noon when the index was up 11 cents.

Oil Mess Costly

LONDON (AP) — The disastrous spewing of oil from the wreckage of the supertanker Torrey Canyon has, by official estimate, cost the British government $4.48 million. It paid troops drafted to clean fouled beaches, helped local authorities battle pollution, and supplied ships and detergents to break up oil slicks.
